Notice of Dangers and Disclaimer:

In the course techniques can be trained and means of action can be taken, which can lead to substantial health endangerment when realistically employed. With my signature below I acknowledge that neither the course organizer, nor the course instructor as well as other instructors - unless grossly negligent behavior is involved - can be held responsible for personal injury or property damage. In this respect, the above-mentioned institutions or persons are expressly exempted from liability under all legal aspects, except for intentional or grossly negligent behavior.

I have taken note of the above-mentioned danger warnings, the exclusion of liability and the declaration of exemption. Should parts of the above declaration be legally invalid, it is expressly confirmed that the declared intention is to make another comparable arrangement in order to limit the liability on the part of the organizer and the acting persons.

Wearing and use of appropriate protective clothing and equipment (i.e. hearing and eye protection, ...) is the sole responsibility of the participant.
